Dear Craig:

The Climate Change Leadership Institute (CCLI) is proud to honor the MIOX Corporation for your product line that enables cleaner oil & gas development. CCLI is a New Mexico based non-profit organization dedicated to the advancement of climate stewardship, clean energy and conservation. We annually lead direct action projects, develop educational partnerships, offer paid student internships and provide community seed grant awards, among other initiatives. In 2011-2012 we teamed up with Students for a Sustainable Future (SSF) to encourage more responsible natural gas extraction. One effective way of achieving best practices in fossil fuel development we found through our project is by honoring and helping advance sustainability-oriented steps that are already being taken in the free marketplace.

In this spirit of honoring and forwarding corporate responsibility we are proud to present the 2012 Direct Action Award to the MIOX Corporation for your sustainable business leadership. MIOX is demonstrating integrity by providing economical solutions that help make oil and gas drilling cleaner by producing cost efficient water purification and treatment systems that make common sense. It's worth acknowledging MIOX's non-toxic disinfectant and oxidant chemistry process which treats and purifies drilling waste water on-site because together it provides meaningful benefits including: eliminating the use of hazardous chemicals, significantly reducing truck traffic, lowering greenhouse gas emissions, improving over-all safety and reducing mitigation costs. Companies and products of this caliber are the way of the future as they are producing business friendly sustainable development solutions which make it economically more cost effective to achieve a new era of responsible energy in America.

The award comes with our heartfelt congratulations as well as a plaque and seed funding. If you could please provide a letter – notifying us not only that you received the award but more importantly reflecting on what it means to you and indicating how you may use the funding – we will post this response letter on our website as we do with our other annual award recipients.

We look forward to working together for a more responsible and sustainable energy future.

Sincerely,

Robb Hirsch
